MRS. NELLIE MCCLUNG SPEAKS ON WOMEN'S PART IN RECONSTRUCTION WORK

Pleads for Greater Sympathy With New Canadians

Mrs. Nellie McClung, writer and lecturer, introduced her subject, "Women's Part in Reconstruction," at the Oyen opera house on Thursday evening last before a large and appreciative audience.

Mrs. McClung spoke of how the exigencies of the war forced on women in England from their homes to munition factories and places of public service. It was found that the women who made shells all day and came home to work for their families were inefficient. Her shell-making was interfered with, and so, after investigation by the state which had to have the services, the working woman's baby was given the care of the husband. The mortality rate among children was lowered during the war by the efficient care they received from the state. The war taught the state that health and happiness was a profitable investment at any price.

"We are working towards a great system of cooperation," said the speaker, "What man ever trimmed his own hares or turned his snout, and at the same time attended to his neighbor's business. I am looking forward to a system of community work which will mean less drudgery for the women in the home, and which will give them more time with her children, so that she will not be too tired to stand up, or too strung up to sit down when their other around her."

In presenting her ideal of the community apartment house, with its efficient cook in the basement, and its disappearing sidewalks, Mrs. McClung pointed out that it meant a maximum of accomplishment with a minimum of effort. "Then," she said, "the sign 'No Children Allowed,' would be changed to 'Only families with children allowed to read these notices.'"

"We women have been given the vote for which we voted to eliminate the war we had better do something with it now that we have it," she said.

"The utility of force is one of the lessons we have learned or should have learned by the war. There is one power that is going to move the world, Sir Edmund Grey said the war could have been averted, but there lacked in the conference of the powers enough good will."

She saw in Canada's mixed population, of which English spoke languages other than English, many problems and many dangers which could only be averted by the cultivation of a new spirit.

Mrs. McClung said: "Canada is geographically divided by the great lakes east and west. The people of the east think of the west as 'uncivilized.' In fact the lecturer had just heard a new epithet applied on this occasion it was called 'the great unchartered west.' Unchartered was a good word because no one knew just what it meant. The east and west are sometimes guilty of criticizing each other rather harshly, but Canada's magnificent distance may become her undoing. It is easy for misunderstanding to arise. We must guard ourselves against the air of superior people where our foreign neighbors are concerned. Those who are white think that they are quite the right color, and what is a good color to start out with."

"I have seen these foreigners, especially the Poles, kiss the earth of the Canadian west when they have arrived here. They come to us with hearts overflowing with romance and poetry, and we freeze them with our unimagined superiority."

"It depends upon us whether we become a nation or a mob. In point of numbers is little difference. It is the same with a dog train and a dog fight, the personnel is the same."

In conclusion Mrs. McClung said we wanted a clean well-run Canada for her children. We want good schools, good clothing, and good food for them. Our dead heroes would say, "we want a fair deal for our wives and children. We don't want our boys to be tempted or our girls to marry drunkards." We would have Canada to set her face against the thing that has outraged womanhood and childhood.

Mrs. Alexander, President of the Oyen Ladies' Aid, acted as chairman for the evening. At the conclusion of the lecture the meeting was thrown open for questions or discussion. Mrs. Bohannan, of Acadia Valley, responded to this invitation. She said that she had noticed Mrs. McClung, in her lecture had remarked that 'men never washed the dishes, cooked the food, cleaned the house, washed the clothes, and mended their overalls. In addition to carrying on their own work, they had more sense.'

Mrs. Bohannan asked those men present who had done these things if they would stand. Amidst roars of laughter, one by one, the men stood up. She then asked the lecturer if she did not think she had proved that men had no more sense than women.

During the evening the Oyen orchestra rendered some very fine selections. Mr. and Mrs. Hallman very sweetly sang the last, "Oh! that we were young," and a solo was given by Mr. E. Fitch, which won a storm of applause.

THE FORD

The Ford Motor Car Company has received a letter from a British-American in Bangalore, India, who is highly enthusiastic over the Ford car record in the big war. He says:

"I was reading a few advertisements of motor cars in a paper, pertaining to what they have done in this war. But nothing about our little Ford. So I'm writing you a few lines, which are as follows:

In France 700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords.
In Italy 850 cars out of 1,000 were Fords.
In Egypt 998 cars out of 1,000 were Fords.
In Mesopotamia 998 cars out of 1,000 were Fords.

Under British capture, the first car in Baghdad was a Ford.
The first car to cross the Persian Mountains was a Ford.
The first car in the genuine Garden of Eden was a Ford.
The first car in the Holy Land was a Ford.

Witness of communication contained Fords by the hundreds from Baghdad to the Black Sea.

I have seen the Fords used as tanks, armored motor forts, electric light plants, water pumps, ambulances, supply cars, and lots of other things, and they were always ready for anything at any time.

These statements are facts as I have served in action all through the countries named. And I named the Ford the best auto in the world. The Iron Horse.

Great preparations are under way to hold a sports day at Hills School on Dominion Day July 1st. Horse racing, foot races, auto races and children races, also a big baseball game is the program for the day, to wind up with a grand Bowers dance in the evening. If you want a good time spend July first at Hills School.

Manager Quinn said the boys could use the local demand for a practice if they wanted to.

TWO OLD PIONEERS BACK FROM THE WAR ZONE

Two of Oyen's oldest pioneers, Bill Davidson and Bob Nesbitt returned from overseas last week. Both these boys enlisted in 1915, and have seen nearly four years of active service in France. Bill Davidson and Bob Nesbitt were some of this district's first settlers, and their many friends around Oyen and district extend to them a hearty welcome home.

SIBBALD NEWS.

The Sibbald Agricultural Society expect to have their prize list out shortly, when a copy can be had from the secretary, or from the postmaster. Several farmers in the Sibbald district have had to re-sow their land where cut-worms have been active. Other crops are looking well.

The school inspector has been looking over the buildings being used for school purposes at Blaragowie, and he is satisfied, under the circumstances, with what the trustees have done, and advised them to keep it open as far into the winter as the weather will permit the children to attend.

Fred Weisbach has got the foundation in for his new house.

CORP. F. TOWNSEND RETURNS

Corp. F. Townsend returned last week after four years service overseas. Corp. Townsend enlisted in Saskatoon in November, 1915, with the 6th Battalion. During his four years at the front he has taken part in the following engagements: Regina Trench, Vimy Ridge, Lens, Passchendaele, Amiens, Arras, Donal and Cambrai. At the battle of Cambrai, Corp. Townsend organized and established an observation post under heavy fire and as a reward was decorated with the Military Medal.

The Departmental Examinations for Grades VIII, IX, X, XI, XII, will be held this year on July 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, and 10th, at Oyen, Chinook and Youngstown.
